IMPERIAL QUARTO. TANGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY.

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN Pronunciation. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stants unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a rast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:---Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's Europe and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000. wellthis work contains more than 50,000 English words, and nows is of 600,000 Chinese charac-Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appliestions and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.

the work is so complete, that a reference to its TUESDAY, the 7th August, 1894 will proceed pages enables a person who understands English to VICTORIA, B.C., and TACOMA, via to communicate effectively with natives who SHANGHAL INLAND SHALKOBE, and ZINTO," 8th August. understand nothing but Chinese.
